Rumors that the Lexow Committee uld take an excursion into Dock Department matters were revived this ning by the appearance of Commissioner Andrew J. White among the wit-

"Well, we have to see that the money appropriated for the Police Department is properly expended."

"That's one thing, to see that the $5,000,000 is expeeded."

"We must see that the members of the Police Department do their duty."

"Have you done that?"

"I think so. They have always enforced the laws."

"Can you say this when it is well known that corruption has run riot here in this city for years."

"I deny that. I think the people are well satisfied with the protection given them by the police.

"Yes, no doubt a certain percentage are, "returned Mr. Goff. "But how about those who are finding fault because the police charged too high for their protection."

"I don't know anything about that."

the pool-sellers, "Yes, that was my belief, and that is as far as I ever got."

"Is that the best answer you can give to my questions?"

"It is."

Chairman Lexow asked the witness if he did not say at the trial of Capt. Cross that he would not believe a witness like Katle Schubert under oath.

After some beating about the bush the Commissioner admitted that he had made such a statement, and repeated that he would not believe the keeper of a disorderly house or any other criminal, unless the testimony was corroborated.

"Do you think any policeman could be convicted of blackmall without the testimony of such witnesses?"

The Commissioner did not know.

"Yet you say when you investigated the pool-selling blackmall rumors you went to the pool-sellers themselves and to them only for your information?"

Mr. Sheehan's Inconsistency. FATHER DUCKY LISTENS.

Mr. Sheehan's Inconsistency.

The witness assented to this, but would give no further explanation of his apparent inconsistency. He said he voted for the conviction of Capt. Doherty not on the testimony of Mrs. Thurow, who was the chief witness against him, but on the testimony of the Captain himself, showing that he was clearly guilty of neglect of duty. In Capt. Martens's case he thought there had been no such neglect of duty on the part of the Captain as in Doherty's case, as the evidence showed that he had repeatedly called the attention of his officers to the existence of disorderly houses and told them to suppress them.

"And that was the reason why you dismissed Capt. Doherty and only fined Capt. Martens thirty days' pay?"

"What was the fine in Capt. Price's case."

"Five days' pay, I think." Mr. Shechan's Inconsistency.

The witness denied that he had expressed the opinion that the departure of Katle Schubert was the result of collusion, in order to prevent her appearing against Inspector McLaughlin, who had never been tried on the charges she had made.

He admitted, however, that when he heard she had left town he had remarked that he did not believe she would ever return.

Mr. Goff tried to induce Mr. Sheehan to tell what specific grounds he had for that belief, but he declared that it was only a suspicion on his part that Mrs. Schubert was spirited away.

"I always thought that Inspector McLaughlin should have been put on trial the same as Capts. Cross and Devery and I have said so a great many times."

"What do you think of the efficiency of the Detective Bureau in failing to prevent her from leaving town."

"But you were amused at the mistakes made by the detectives in trying to low her?"

"Yes. Some of the accounts in the papers were humorous."

"But you were amusel at the mistakes made by the detectives in trying to follow her?"

"Yes. sir, and I say again he should have been put to trial."

They failed to shake the boy's testimony, but the questions showed that they will try to prove that an unknown man may have elimbed in at the second-story window of Mrs. Hoffman's house and murdered her.

Dr. Cyrus Edson, of 'the Board of Health, testified that he had made an examination of the stains upon the butcher knife which had belonged to Feigenbaum, and that the stains were made with human blood.

The look of terror which so strongly marked, Feigenbaum's face yesterday when young Hoffman was telling about the murder of his mother, was strong again to-day when the butcher knife was produced in court and identified. Admond Glueik, of 56 East Sixth street, testified that late on the night of the murder he saw a man coming out of an alley near the house. The man was in his shirt sleeves and bare feet. He pointed out the man to a policeman and he was arrested. The arrested man was Feigerbaum.
